

X. 1.12.24

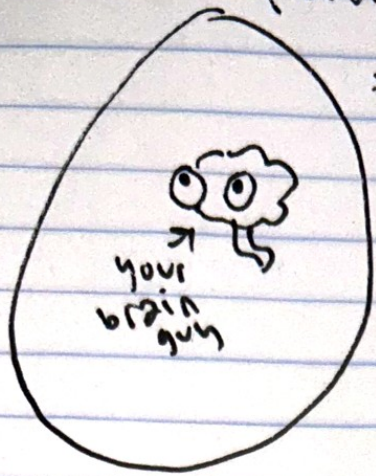

• The Egg

by Andy Weir, is a short story that the egg theory stems from. You are a 48 yr. old man who died in a car accident. You meet an entity called god and he tells you that you are going to be reincarnated as a chinese peasant girl in 540 (?) AD. you have been reincarnated countless times and will be. you ask what the point is if you will only forget everything? after you've lived the life of every human who has ever existed and will ever exist, you will become a god. The point of all this is to gain as much spiritual knowledge and awareness, in order to be..well.. divine like a god! by seeing through all these perspectives and different experiences.

The Egg Theory

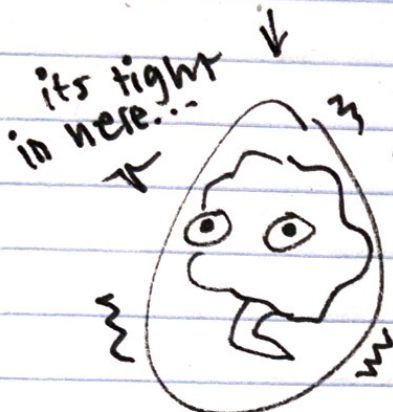

- The egg theory states.. basically what happens in the story will. its the "egg" theory because the universe is an egg for your consciousness to grow and mature, and the universe is yours. everyone around you has and will be you, and once you've lived the life of everyone ever, you will become a god. This may sound good or bad depending on your state of mind, but you could also take it as an inspiration to be kinder? since, well everyone is you. so when your in that guys shoes, you wont be happy being told to fuck off!

The eggs (pictured)

= the universe

you're the chicken inside, your consciousness growing inside

= when your full of spiritual knowledge, ready to 'hatch'

everyone is your conscious in this theory. (not sure how else to say it) they are all your incarnates. I like to think that everyone else you see, is in their own 'egg' universe, adding to the theory of multiverses (and more) existing, if you believe in it. that's just my add-on to it.

